DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 2, 4, 5, 7 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Strughold '582.

3. Strughold '582 discloses with respect to claim 1 an applicator (Fig. 1) comprising a body 14 of said lubricant (col. 2, lines 34-37) having a generally planar application surface area (Figs. 5 or 6) and holder means 15 or 17 attached to said body of lubricant means. As for claim 1 reciting that the lubricant is applied to "bowling shoe soles and the like", a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 370 F.2d 576, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 312 F.2d 937, 939, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963).

As for claim 2, the lubricant comprises soapstone (col. 1, lines 5-8).

As for claim 4, the holder means comprises a "handle" 15 having at least one "groove" at 19 for manual grasping for use.

Art Unit: 1744

As for claim 5, the holder means 15 has a generally rectilinear block configuration (Fig. 1).

As for claims 7 and 8, the holder is deemed of generally cylindrical (since the cross-section of holder 15 could be round as taught in col. 3, lines 7-16) configuration and the block of lubricant is disposed therein and extends therefrom.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 3 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Strughold '582.

As for claim 3, note the lubricant comprises soapstone or talc (col. 1, lines 7-10). It is the Examiner's position that one skilled in the art would find it obvious to make the soapstone include talc, chlorite and magnetite after an optimization process depending on the desired task at hand. Such materials are well known and could well be combined to form a satisfactory lubricant.

As for claim 6, the holder means 15 has a generally rectilinear block configuration (Fig. 1).

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The patents to Soldan, Rands, Aracil, Williams, Okamoto and Cooper are relevant to lubricating arrangements.
